

CheckUps To Open 20 New Walk-In Clinics In Wal-Mart Stores By End of 2006

NEW YORK, NY, August 29, 2006 --- CheckUps (formerly known as Quick Quality Care), a retail-based, non-emergency walk-in medical facility, announced today that it has reached an agreement with Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. to open 20 new clinics inside Wal-Mart stores in the southeast by the end of 2006.

The 20 new CheckUps clinics inside Wal-Mart locations will be in the following areas: five in Wal-Mart stores in the New Orleans, La. area; six in the Jackson, Miss. area; and nine in Alabama, near Huntsville, Birmingham and Mobile. The first of the new clinics will open in the Wal-Mart store located in Forest, Miss.

CheckUps currently operates three clinics in Wal-Mart stores in Cape Coral, Tampa and Stuart, Fla.

“We are excited and delighted with this major expansion of our relationship with Wal-Mart,” said Jack Tawil, chairman and chief executive officer of CheckUps.

“Wal-Mart serves as a community hub for thousands of people who can benefit from more convenient, affordable access to quality healthcare,” said Ameer Chande, vice president of health care strategy and communications for Wal-Mart. “We are pleased to invite CheckUps into more of our stores to meet the basic and preventive health needs of these communities and Wal-Mart customers.”

Check-Ups clinics diagnose and treat common ailments such as strep throat, ear and sinus infections, and provide routine pediatric care, blood screenings, and immunizations, along with services such as healthy living counseling. CheckUps nurse practitioners can write and email prescriptions to the patient's preferred pharmacy. Visits typically take under 15 minutes and no appointments are necessary.

"CheckUps offers consumers a new, lower cost option for non-emergency health care," said Dr. Neal Krouse, president of CheckUps. "Our mission is to make quality, affordable medical care conveniently available to everyone in our country. CheckUps is the new model for basic health care delivery in America."

Community medical personnel welcome the new facilities.

"Forest, Mississippi, continues to be a medically under-served area and we welcome CheckUps here to help us provide medical care to those in our community," said Dr. John Paul Lee, chief of staff at Lackey Memorial Hospital in Forest. "We hope this will decrease the burden on our local emergency rooms – not only in Forest but in many other areas as well."
